

Quality Management System and Environmental Management System at BERND SCHWEGMANN GmbH & Co. KG

Quality management: Bernd Schwegmann GmbH & Co.KG is an internationally operating enterprise, which manufactures and delivers chemical and technical specialities. Usually our products serve to regulate difficult chemical or technical processes in the coatings industry, the printing industry and adjoining areas. Consequently, the quality of our products and of our entire performance spectrum has always had an outstanding importance for the objectives of our enterprise and is an obligation for top management and employees.

The product range comprises

- Additives, especially coating additives
- Printing chemicals, for the graphic arts industries
- Industrial cleaners and special products that increase the above-mentioned product range
- Test charts used to test various properties of paints such as their covering properties

Our quality management system has already been established at Bernd Schwegmann GmbH & Co. KG more than 25 years ago and is certified according to the actual standard DIN EN ISO 9001:2015.

Environmental management: Endeavours to design our activities in harmony with our environment as far as possible and to take into account factors of sustainability have always had significance at the enterprise Bernd Schwegmann GmbH & Co. KG. Continuous adaptation to actual insights of environmental compatibility especially of our products – from development through production up to their usage – was and still is a natural course of action to us.

Our environmental management system orientates itself towards DIN EN ISO14001. We have structurally combined our environmental with our quality management system to form an integrated management system where the two management systems are still easily recognisable and retrievable. We haven't our environmental management system certified according to the environmental standard DIN EN ISO 14001 up to now, but we don't exclude its certification in the future.
